Introduction

As global teams working remotely becomes the new norm, it's never been more important to embrace new ways to bring people together.

Corporate Online Gaming & Esports Tournaments are a fun, innovative solution to team building that is inclusive, active, and accessible to all skill levels.

The following includes 3 tiers of online gaming opportunities that can be played on laptops from home without any additional hardware. Tournaments can also run anywhere from a couple of weeks to a couple of months.

With all the infrastructure in place, these opportunities are ready to go! Welcome to be in touch with to discuss further.

All the best,
Amelia

01

Bronze

This involves a fun, addictive, and easy to play online game. Tournament software is used to set up a private group page where everyone is invited to easily upload their best score of the week. The top 50% will go on to the next round and so on. The online bracket gives everyone visibility, and is managed and monitored with ongoing support. Depending on how many people participate, the tournament can last anywhere from 4-8 weeks.

02 Silver

Choose from classic Nintendo favourites such as Super Mario World, Donkey Kong, Zelda, or Super Mario Kart. While the tournament aspect is the same as the Bronze package, these games will have more of a learning curve and require greater tech support. Instructional materials, cheats sheets, and tutorial videos will be provided, and we advise a time period for practice before the actual tournament begins.

03

Gold

Run by a team of Esports professionals who regularly deliver similar events for the likes of Redbull, this is a bespoke corporate Esports experience worthy of headlines. Rocket League is a respected staple in online gaming and has been selected for its accessibility and team dynamics. Organisers create and manage the bracket, and will be actively involved in the running of the games. Add-ons include live commentary and streaming so everyone can view the final events and experience the energy of a real esports tournament.
